ANDOVER GUILD ASKS HELP

Prospect of Empty Treasury Threatens Continuance of Work Which Concerns Happiness of 500 Boys and Girls—House-to-House Canvass to Be Made

For many years the Andover Guild has owed its financial support to comparatively few people. Although it is one of the few community undertakings in Andover and probably reaches as large a number of people as any other, it has not had the financial backing of the community, except for occasional noteworthy exceptions such as the Wolcott Avenue Street Fair in 1927. The directors of the Guild have long felt it unfair to ask the loyal few to shoulder the entire burden which has increased materially since the war. This policy, however, has been even more unfair to the Guild, itself, which has been forced to struggle along with inadequate funds and a correspondingly impaired effectiveness.

The situation has been particularly acute this year. Under the able leadership of Miss Margaret Davis the Guild has attracted increasing numbers of children and young people. Week after week five hundred and more boys and girls have come to its building, where a gymnasium reduced to a single piece of serviceable apparatus, a kitchen lacking even saucepans and mixing bowls, club-rooms adorned with backless chairs, and game rooms without games. That it has succeeded so well in making its building a home and an attractive one for the orderly, supervised recreation of so many young people is a tremendous tribute to the courage and energy of Miss Davis and a few loyal assistants.

Even with the most painstaking economy the funds contributed have scarcely served to finance the Guild during the first few months of its season. At present the prospect of an empty treasury threatens the continuance of the work. This would involve giving up not only the balance of the indoor program, but the activities on the Town Playground which were so conspicuously successful in 1928. Faced with this outlook the directors have decided to put the question of continuing the Guild squarely up to the community through a house-to-house canvass covering the whole of Andover. This will give everyone a chance to cast his vote for or against the Guild by giving or withholding his contribution. It should be borne in mind that this vote is not for or against a building or a board of directors, but

PLYMOUTH THEATRE

"This Thing Called Love" an American comedy of smart manners, smart ideas and smart people, will begin its indefinite engagement, Monday night, April 22nd, at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston. The play comes here directly from Philadelphia where, in a run of two months, it was the outstanding hit of the season, duplicating its success in New York and Chicago, the only other cities in which the comedy has been presented.

"This Thing Called Love" was written by Edwin Burke and is his first full length play although he has been a prolific playwright with more than two hundred successful one-act plays and vaudeville skits to his credit. It is a sophisticated, humorous and somewhat satirical comedy dealing with the up-to-the-minute problem of love and marriage. In fact, if electric signs permitted the space its title might well be "How to be Happy Though Married."

Mr. Burke's comedy has the background of a fundamental idea—that suspicion and jealousy are the little playmates of love and that a marriage to be successful must well well as love. Through three acts of brilliant dialogue and clever situations he seeks to prove his theory. He has a profound idea back of his play but has chosen to present it in terms of high comedy rather than seriously. Not always logical, perhaps, but ever humorous and sincere, he builds a story that is not only exceedingly interesting and entertaining but wholly new to the stage.

Patterson McNutt, who produced the highly successful "The Poor Nut" a few seasons back, and "Kibitzer," now one of the popular hits on Broadway, is presenting "This Thing Called Love." He has assembled a capable and well balanced cast to interpret Mr. Burke's clever lines, and it has been kept intact throughout the season. The feature players are Violet Heming, who was leading lady for George Arliss in "Disraeli" and who has since played the featured feminine role in many notable successes; Minot Watson, one of the newer school of leading men, and Juliette Day, who has returned to the stage after an absence of three years especially to appear in the new comedy. Others who have important roles include Malcolm Duncan, Henry Whittemore, Lois Brown, Juana Allraun, Alfred Helton and Bruce Elmore.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE

Jeanne Eagels registered a triumph at the opening performance of "The Letter," Paramount's all-talking picture of the W. Somerset Maugham stage success, when the play had its premier showing at the Criterion Theatre in New York, where it is now playing, twice daily, at $2.00 per seat. "The Letter" is an ideal all-talking picture presentation, and Miss Eagels, supported by an exceptional cast, will seldom be seen to better advantage on stage or screen.

Miss Eagels, as a lady who loved neither too wisely nor too well, gave a characterization of a woman scorned that will not be forgotten easily by theatre-goers. Her magnetic personality held the audience in suspense from the opening scene to the closing one. Her voice registered well and proved aptly suited to the new form of screen entertainment. Little wonder that this superb actress has been worshipped by lovers of the drama in two hemispheres.

O. P. Heggie, brilliant portrayal of many characterizations on the stage, has the important role of the lawyer who saves Miss Eagels from conviction of a murder charge by securing professional ethics. Reginald Owen, as the outraged husband, has a strong role.

Jean de Limur directed, and much praise is due him for the manner in which he transplanted the stage success to the screen. Ted Claire and his Met Syncopators, holding sway at the Metropolitan, will head this week's stage show, "Bright Lights," devised and staged for Public by C. A. Niggemeyer. Unlike many of the past revues at the Metropolitan, this show carries a complete story and is really a miniature musical stage show rather than a revue, with a cast of big-time vaudeville and musical comedy stars, including Clemons and Marcy, singing and dancing comedians; Frankie James, comedienne; Carroll and Gorman, the boys who make two pianos talk; Doris McMahon, the personality girl; and the famous Gamby Hale girls and Dave Gould boys.

Finally, after many weeks of digging and entrenching themselves in their respective strongholds, Arthur Geissler and Arthur Martel will settle their squabble, using instruments of their own choosing, "Organ vs. Orchestra," which will be a harmonious battle of sharps and flats! May the best man win!

Don't forget Ted's "Whoopee Show" every night at nine o'clock, excepting Saturday and Sunday.

The superb actor, Emil Jennings, will be seen at the Metropolitan theatre the week of April 26th in "The Betrayal."

The prohibition of women wearing men's clothes was a part of the old common law and does not appear in the federal statutes.

There are approximately 700,000 species of animal life which have been described up to the present time.

FORMER BUICK DEALER IS NOW AIDE TO HOOVER

Arthur M. Hyde of Missouri is new Secretary of Agriculture

President Hoover's recent appointment of former Gov. Arthur M. Hyde of Missouri as Secretary of Agriculture, brings for the first time a man from the automobile industry to the cabinet of the nation's chief executive. Secretary Hyde has long been a Buick dealer at Trenton, Mo.

The appointee has established a remarkable record both in political circles and as a business man. Coming, as he does, from the very heart of the farm belt, Secretary Hyde, through his long association with problems confronting tillers of the soil, is especially qualified to meet the responsibilities connected with this highly important cabinet post.

Being the owner of three large farms in Missouri, Mr. Hyde has a first hand knowledge of the farm problem. The work confronting the new secretary will be largely of an administrative nature, and his automobile business experience will be of inestimable value in dealing with the ramifications of the farm question, because, too, is essentially a business problem.

As a lawyer he administered to the farmers' legal needs as a merchandiser of Buick cars his dealings with them brought him into even closer touch with their financial and domestic problems. As governor of Missouri he became the champion of their cause—and now as a member of President Hoover's cabinet he is to become instrumental in solving one of the most difficult situations confronting the American nation.

Secretary Hyde is an intensely active man. When he practiced law he was eminently successful. Law has always been his central activity, but as time went by he became increasingly interested in the automotive world as a dealer in Buick Motor cars. He has made a remarkable success of his automobile business, which he retained during his tenure of office as governor and in which he still has an interest.

On last Saturday evening a meeting of young men interested in the formation of an Andover Athletic association which was held in the lower Town hall, at which there was an attendance of about fifty, John N. Cole was elected temporary chairman with David L. Coutts, temporary secretary. Mr. Cole said that it was the hope of the Park commissioners to have the new field in good condition for playing in a short time and that two diamonds with possibly a third would be laid out. He hoped that in a comparatively short time an outdoor gymnasium would be arranged and that later a building would be found where an indoor gymnasium could be fitted up. The chairman appointed three men to serve as a nominating committee to bring in a list of permanent officers to be balloted for at the next meeting as follows: Frederick S. Boutwell, Andrew McTernan and John Sweeney. Other committees: Membership, Nesbit G. Gleason, John Sweeney, John Lawson, Howard Bell, Michael Maloney, Walter Thompson, Cutter Foster, Philip Reid and Stewart Clement; by-laws, William C. Crowley, Myron E. The following students at Punched were not absent or tardy during the winter term: Miss Findley, Miss Moulton, Miss Lindsay, Chester Farmer, Miss Fairweather, Miss Lowd, Fred Jewett, Harry Sellers, Miss Cole, Miss Whittemore, Miss Cheever, Miss Jenkins, Miss Coleman, Miss Helen Eaton, Miss Gordon, Miss O'Connell, Miss Watts, Miss Freeman, Fred Cheever, Ray Dearborn, Charles Greenwood, Philip Hardy, David Lawson, Clarence O'Connell.

Early Agriculture

The art of agriculture, the first step in civilization, was first practiced in the Near East—in Asia or Africa—according to archeological research, and the first grain growers are believed also to have been potters. These two arts spread into the Aegean area, to the plain of Hungary, to Switzerland and the Rhine country, and then to the Atlantic coast. It is now asserted that agriculture and the potter's art reached Britain at the dawn of the Neolithic age.

Solitude

In our modern day, with the pace that our civilization tries to establish and to maintain, a great many people are made nervous by peace and solitude. Our speed of life is such that usually, when we seek repose, we make a mad dash for it. But solitude has a hand to still the pulse's leap, a voice to calm and reassure. Solitude is a room into which we can retire whenever we need a change from present company. It is a bourn of solace and reflection.—American Magazine.

Ain't Science Wonderful?

Science has made comfort possible for old age. Not so many years ago there was little recreation or amusement for one grown old. Now the tick-tock of the old clock is drowned by the dinner music from a high-priced orchestra; the organ music of a great cathedral, or the chimes of a carillon on Park avenue. But science is not done yet. The things they call television is on its way.—American Magazine.

Sirens

A couple of cute young ladies who were visiting a western city decided that they would go horseback riding we are told, and the head groom asked one of them whether she would prefer the flat English saddle or the western saddle with a horn. "The flat saddle," said the young thing, "because we aren't going to ride in any traffic and won't need a horn."

Grounds for Divorce

One of the reasons advanced by a woman for seeking a divorce from her husband at Newport, R. I., was that when he took her to a theater he fell asleep, and snored so loudly that people laughed at them. The woman was granted a decree on the ground of cruelty.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL NOTES

Better Apples Is Aim of Fruit Growers' Club

Better apples for the consumer to buy and the farmer to sell is the aim of a 90 per cent clean apple club for New England growers.

This club is being sponsored by the fruit specialists of the New England agricultural colleges, and according to W. H. Thies of Amherst, secretary of the New England association, is the second drive of the 5-year program put on by these specialists, the 1928 contest being on top grafting. Their object in this united effort is to bring about an increase in quality of New England apples as well as an increase in consumption.

At least 300 bushels of one of the "New England Seven"—Rhode Island Greening, Gravenstein, Delicious, McIntosh, Northern Spy, Wealthy or Baldwin—are necessary before an applicant may be considered eligible for this club, and 90 per cent of his fruit must be clean from pest damage.

Color, weather russeting, and size will not be considered in judging the fruit, the cleanliness being based on pest damage only. Information on the life history of troublesome apple pests will be provided to growers, and spray record charts will be kept by the grower to show the season's work. During August, if conditions seem to warrant, a check-up will be made on each grower's crop by some member of the extension service to determine eligibility for membership in the club.

Junior High School Field Day

On Saturday, May 25, the faculty and students of the Essex County agricultural school will entertain members of the graduating classes of the grammar and junior high schools of Essex county. A program including trips over the farm, agricultural and home-making contests and athletic events has been prepared by Director Smith and his staff.

Public Speaking Contest

Three students from the Essex County agricultural school and one student from the Norfolk County agricultural school will represent the county districts in the State Public Speaking contest to be held at the Massachusetts agricultural college, May 3.

Richard Woodbury of Fitchburg, Clifford Bryer of Cliftondale, and Miss Ida May Perkins of Haverhill, all students of this school, and Frank R. Locke of the Norfolk County school are the successful contestants.

Caller: What a cozy little breakfast room—and the wall is so artistically splattered. Mrs. Dewey: Yes, this is where my George eats his grapefruit.

Mental Transformation

In the course of some investigations of epilepsy, a French neurologist secured some specimens of writing begun before epileptic seizure and continued during that state. His report is that the part written in a normal and lucid state is correct as to form and content, while the part written in an epileptic state is incorrect in both content and form. The defects in the writing appear suddenly, with no transitional phase, and affect the penmanship and the composition. The letters have become curved, the outlines have been enlarged, and the forms have been changed. The composition is a strange, incoherent conglomeration of words and ideas.

Wealth From "Scrap"

By the system of reclamation of the scrap pile now being generally followed by nearly all the railroad companies, bright new tin buckets, cups and other articles are being manufactured from old metal roofing, empty powder and carbide containers and other junk salvaged. Old broom handles are made into staffs for signal flags, old canvas is transformed into curtains for the locomotive cabs and coaches, steam-pipe coverings and aprons. Thrift practices such as these save the carriers hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

MASONIC MINSTREL SHOW

The specialties were all of a very high standard. Probably the best ever heard here was "Angela Mia" by Mr. Collins and Mrs. Henry J. Simmers. As Mr. Collins ended the verse and chorus, Mrs. Simmers emerged from a huge cotton bale, walked slowly to the front of the stage and responded with the second verse and chorus, the latter being repeated by the "gang" in a most effective manner. Mrs. Simmers also contributed a group of three songs, her pleasing voice and personality and perfect enunciation captivating her audience. John A. Arnold was a most helpful accompanist for Mrs. Simmers as he was for the numbers by the "gang".

Henry Fairweather, Andover's versatile entertainer, presented a feature number, "A Gay Caballero" in "a Spanish Bulldozer". Arranged as a Spanish senor he sang and danced in a very clever manner. He also contributed several original verses and gave these in response to general demands from his audience.

One of the most unusual special numbers and one which was given for the first time on the local stage, was the illuminated club-swinging act by Charles Scobie and John Scherner, members of the "gang". With all light out this was an effective number as has ever been presented and the encore was well deserved.

The "Rajah" impersonated by "overseer" Jim Ryley and assisted by "overseer" Wiswall "myself" the audience. Blindfolded, the "Rajah" had no difficulty in naming every article taken by his assistant at random from the audience. Not once did the "Rajah" miss his "cue". The act, one of the best on the program, was cleverly done and created much merriment.

No gathering of colored folks would be complete without "breakdown" and Jack Kilcoyne of Methuen, one of the "gang", gave a very finished exhibition of solo and buck and wing dancing and was compelled to respond to a most enthusiastic encore.

The "gang's" own contribution, outside its splendid chorus work, was a Southern melody "Swing, Along Chillun" rendered with exact attention to tone quality, color and time and under the baton of director Collins. To many it was the best number of an unusual program.

The finale a medley of popular songs included, "Blackbirds Are Bluebirds Now", "Angela Mia" and "Away Down South in Dixie". As the curtain fell, the opinion was unanimous that the Square and Compass club had made good its claim of a show that was different.

Malcolm Lundgren was the accompanist for the end and did his part well. The instrumental music was by Stanley Pratt's orchestra which also played for the dancing. The electrical effects were by Charles A. Hill and John Scherner painted the very effective drop curtain used in the opening chorus.

The "gang": George M. Knipe, George Nelson, George B. Petrie, James P. Christie, Frederick E. Cheever, Carl Wetterberg, first tenors; Hance Bodwell, Joseph A. Higginson, William H. Gibson, John Scherner, Herbert E. Merrick, John M. Erving, Fred L. Winkley, second tenors; Hugh A. Ewing, George MacCullough, Leslie N. Herrick, J. Duke Fairweather, David L. Coutts, Robert Scobie, Charles Scobie, James Smith, Philip F. Leslie, Harry W. Wadman, Henry J. Simmers, Harry Scherner, Matthew Burns, Sidney White, James Gillespie, first bases; Frank B. Bartlett, George A. Christie, Clifford W. Dunnells, second bases.

The ushers were Charles E. Foster, George M. R. Holmes, David R. Lawson, Fred H. Morrison, I. R. Kimball, Harry Sellars. The committee included Leonard Johnson, chairman, Hugh A. Ewing, John Carse, I. R. Kimball, Leonard D. Sherman, James Ryley, Harry Sellars and J. Everett Collins.

At the conclusion of the performance George A. Higgins in behalf of the "gang" and the club and in recognition of services well rendered, presented director Collins with a beautiful traveling bag and a purse of gold. James Ryley, assistant director, was also remembered and was presented with a pocketbook and a sum of money. Both briefly expressed their thanks and appreciation.

That the ability to stage a minstrel show was not confined to the men of the family was proved when the members of the Thimble club were hostesses on the occasion of their gentlemen's night held Monday evening in the assembly hall of the Square and Compass club.

A roast lamb supper was served by Caterer A. P. Weigel of Lawrence to a gathering of one hundred twenty after, which the hall was cleared for the entertainment.

Mrs. Carrie Pomeroy in red with six end men in clown costumes of blue and white with a chorus of nineteen in orange and black smocks and caps made a colorful picture. There were songs and specialties and jokes on members and guests. When the show was over, Harry Sellars in behalf of the men expressed their appreciation of the evening's entertainment.

THE SCOUT OATH

"SCOUTING'S" INFLUENCE

Observations of a Thoughtful Father on the Effect of the Boy Scout Movement Illustrated by His Two Sons

Happy the day when the Boy Scout movement became an American institution! The idle time of the adolescent boy is dynamic—either for good or evil. When his restless hours are organized for the pursuit of healthful recreation by experts who understand his needs—when he adventures forth under guidance into the boy world of chivalry, romance, nature-love, mechanics, physical prowess, and clan loyalty, something momentous has happened in the social order of our day.

Scouting is the ounce of prevention which is destined to prevent untold human wreckage by the simple expedient of directed energy at the turbulent point where the mountain torrents of boyhood meet and mingle with the quieter waters of manhood. For three years I have watched the influence of Scouting upon my two sons. At first I thought it was only a passing spasm, like hair maulage, or rabbits. But I was wrong. It stuck! A "tenderfoot" was some punkins in the neighborhood. His achievement set him apart. It presented only a little hill, but it was a hill overcome. And then, there were other foothills beyond in the steadily ascending range, where one could always look down upon "the mavericks" of the plain and wave a Bill Hart sombrero.

The devil still finds something for idle hands and idle minds to do, but the Boy Scouts have the devil on the run. They have no time to bother with him. They are busy—busy from school time to bed time. Oh, the messes I have had to swallow, to see if the "camp cooking" would pass muster; the blackened corkscrew "bread" I have sampled taking it reverently from grimy hands, while anxious eyes watched the solemn tasting. I say "reverently," for the laughing "Fine, son, fine!" did not make it less a sacrament—an oath of love and understanding between my boy and me.

The "little fellow" topped the second hill in Scouting first, but there was no jealousy. The "big fellow" was as pleased as Punch, and struck out after his younger brother with grim determination. The mother and I wistfully watched them while the "little" fellow spurred on his slower brother.

When both became First Class Scouts there was tired of the game. What is it in Scouting, that sustains the boys' interest? A lot of things, probably, but the Scout Master is the chief conspirator. He is the devoted, efficient, lovable center of the Boy Scout world. I take off my hat to him!

Happy the father of two active boys who, knowing his city, its temptations and slippery places, comes home night after night to meet a domestic situation like this: "Hello, dear! Dinner ready? Where are the boys?" "Over at the Scout Master's"; or, "Passing a test in Scouting"; or, "Down in the basement working on some contraption required for a merit badge." Here they come, two young tornadoes, with oil on hands, faces and clothes—clear-eyed, human, affectionate young bears. No time in those busy brains, thanks to Scouting, for evil thoughts; no street corners for them. "Say, dad, will you come with us Saturday, we gotta measure a quarter-section of land and plot it to scale for our merit badge in surveying." Or, "Will you take us to the baths so we can do our last test in swimming?" Or, "Pop, are you good for a fourteen-mile hike? We've got to have your O. K." Or, "Look here, Pop, can you make twenty sailor knots?" Later, from Dad: "Mother, what is that awful noise?" "Only the boys practising for their file and drum meeting." "Dear dad! They are in dream-land now, out there on their sleeping-porch, breathing air as pure as their souls. Their mother is sewing another merit badge on the sleeve of each Scout shirt. There's hardly room for another from wrist to shoulder."

Each badge represents a little hill which has been overcome. They have been topping a lot of hurdles lately, and climbing a lot of mountains, but they are not tired of Scouting. There is a snowy peak ahead, and occasionally I hear the "big fellow" whisper to the "little fellow," "Do you think I'll ever make it, kid?" "Sure you'll make it; we'll both make it; we gotta." "Gee, it will be great to be an Eagle Scout!"—Dr. L. L. Wirt, in the Congregationalist.

This space will be devoted hereafter to news of the activities of the Boy Scouts of Andover.

Both Feet in It

The peppery colonel was letting off steam. What is the present day girl coming to?" he snorted to his partner. "Look at that one over there. Imagine her parents allowing her to appear in public in plus fours and an Etan crop. Attempting to copy our dress. Bah!"

"That, sir, is my daughter," replied the partner.

"Oh, sorry," said the colonel. "I didn't know you were her father."

"I'm not," replied the other; "I'm her mother."—Times of India.

Prosperity for Others?

The status of manufacturing and its prospects for the future are always highly interesting to the people of New England who depend upon this industry to such a degree. The following editorial from the April 16 edition of the Boston Traveler, entitled "More Signs of Prosperity", presents a very optimistic outlook on this subject:

Statistics gathered by three different bureaus of organizations indicate that employment in the factories of the United States is at its highest peak in two years.

This is good news to everybody—even including the worker who happens to be out of a job at the moment of reading it. For when factories generally are busy and are taking on more help more people have money to spend and the market for goods of all kinds increases. The more people are gainfully employed, and the greater their aggregate wages, the more opportunities for employment there are sure to be.

President John E. Edgerton, of the National Association of Manufacturers, declares that industries are operating at the unusually high ratio of 85.1 percent of their fullest capacity. His figures are based upon a survey of conditions in more than a thousand plants of various kinds in thirty-seven states. The same authority says that, since the cost of living has diminished a little, the country is 8.71 per cent higher than it was year ago and he expects no falling off this summer.

The National Industrial Conference Board reports the average wages of workers have increased slightly during the past two years, while the cost of living has diminished a little. Our industrial system is far from perfect in its functioning. At no time is employment as secure as it should be. But the present outlook is excellent, with existing activity based upon solid foundations.

American industry is moving in the right direction. Its accomplishments in providing an abundance of inexpensive luxuries, and enabling millions of people to afford them, are the wonder of the modern age and the envy of the world.

The declaration "that industries are operating at the ratio of 85.1 percent of their fullest capacity" is news that many people in this section hardly will have realized. In fact the manufacturing plants in these parts have been running so much below their full capacity that it seems conceivable that a great proportion of the industries are operating nearer 14.9 percent of their capacity. Andover has witnessed the practical shut-down of one of its chief manufacturing plants and decreased production in others. Lawrence and other nearby cities and towns have been confronted with the same problem. However, it is true that the proportion of unemployment does not necessarily equal the proportion of non-production. Labor-saving machinery and devices have in a large measure been responsible for this. Industries moving to other parts do not lessen production but only tend to make one section's loss another's gain.

If low-capacity operation of industries is sectional, and if this section seems to be getting the worst of the deal, the problem must be worked out by those to whom it means so much. New industries must be encouraged to locate here, and if manufacturing methods are behind the times they must be brought up to date. The cooperation of city and town governments and the manufacturers in giving this serious thought should go a long way toward restoring to this section the manufacturing supremacy it once held.

The Essentials of an Adequate Diet
Arthur D. Holmes, Ph.D., from the E. L. Patch company of Stoneham, Mass., at the regular meeting of the November club held on Monday afternoon. He likened body building to building of a house with the proteins, fats, carbohydrates and minerals as the building materials and the vitamins as the builders.

Mr. Holmes' talk was illustrated with charts and tables thrown on the screen by means of the stereopticon, showing the importance of minerals and vitamins in the food. Milk, orange juice, and cod liver oil provide the essential vitamins B, A, D, and C said the speaker, especially stressing the value of cod liver oil which contains both A and D. Pictures were shown of guinea pigs deprived of these vitamins as well as of those supplied with them by means of cod liver oil, with the advantage greatly in favor of the former. Tables also showed the greater vigor of chicks to whose diet the proper vitamins had been added, with the conclusion that human beings were equally benefited.

The audience was much amused to hear that Mr. Holmes advocated cod liver oil in the diet of those who were reducing as well as in that of those who wished to gain weight, the theory being that in a restricted diet, there was great danger of a diet lacking in the vitamins which cod liver oil would supply.

The attendance at the meeting was small.

At the next regular meeting of this club to be held on April 29 the program will be in charge of the music department.

The annual meeting of the dramatic department will be held at the clubhouse on Friday, April 26, beginning with a luncheon at one o'clock. Members will receive further notice.

The department of art will meet on Monday, April 22, at three o'clock with Mrs. Lester E. Lynde, Main street.

The department of literature will meet on Wednesday, April 24, at 3:00 o'clock with Mrs. Edwin T. Brewster.

Free Church Choir Sings in Bradford

Both the senior and junior choirs of the Free church, under the direction of Ernest I. Thornequist, organist and director took part in the choir festival held at the First Church of Christ, Congregational, in Bradford Sunday afternoon.

The choirs of the Bradford church and the Haverhill Philharmonic society sang also. There were two numbers sung by all the combined choirs of over one hundred voices, special numbers by each group and a recessional by all the participants.

The Free church senior choir sang Gounod's "Sanctus" from the "Messe Solennelle" with George Knappe as tenor soloist.

Horace Killam of Porter road is the organist and director of the Bradford church.

Andover to Hold Daily Vacation Church School

Last July seven of the church schools in town tried a co-operative experiment in capitalizing, for Christian character building, the children's vacation time, thus supplementing the religious education provided by their Sunday sessions.

Miss Jean Porter of the B. U. School of Religious Education, supervised the school very successfully and will again be in charge this summer from July 1 to 26. The average daily attendance was 161 pupils between four and fourteen years of age, and the cost was $237. This year it is proposed to double the budget in order to pay department directors something, out of fairness, for their and for the greater efficiency of the school. Pupils, whose parents can afford it, will be asked to pay $1 apiece.

Persons who would like to make a contribution or pledge to this worth-while project, are asked to notify the treasurer, Randolph H. Perry, of the offer of service and suggestions will also be much appreciated.

Executive committee: Thaxter Eaton, chairman; Albert N. Wade, Miss Mary W. Bell, Randolph H. Perry, treasurer; Mrs. C. Norman Bartlett, secretary. Finance committee: Randolph H. Perry, treasurer; Mrs. C. Norman Bartlett, secretary; Mrs. Ethel E. Cross, Miss Clara A. Putnam, Nathan C. Hamblin.

Mr. Stevens spoke of the planning of the perennial garden with special reference to continuous bloom, mentioning the most desirable varieties of tulips, daffodils, iris, peonies, delphiniums, lilies and asters as well as other perennials to be used in the garden throughout the season.

A report was given by the treasurer on the recent successful garden conference showing that a substantial sum was realized as a result of the activities of the committee.

Six new members were voted into the club.

Centennial Celebration at Abbot

The plans for the celebration of Abbot academy's centennial are now well advanced. During the past two months the various committees have been working along definite lines and the results now indicate an enthusiastic interest on the part of alumni and the most cordial cooperation from Andover citizens.

One of the most difficult problems connected with the celebration is the matter of housing the school's guests and the returning alumni, but the response of Andover householders has been so prompt and generous, this problem is being solved in the most satisfactory manner.

The Centennial celebration program covers five days beginning Saturday, June 1, and concluding Wednesday, June 5, Saturday, Sunday and Monday will be given over to the usual commencement and graduation exercises. Tuesday will be Alumnae Day.

On Wednesday the Centennial will be celebrated with the following program:

10:00 a.m.—Academic procession.

10:30 a.m.—Celebration of the Centennial at the South church.

12:30 p.m.—Reception to distinguished guests.

TOWN GOVERNMENT

certain to lead to a political machine and department heads are apt to change with every mayor.

Under the commission plan which has been tried in Galveston, the people elect a commission of five persons who are responsible both for legislation and administration and the work of the city is organized with five departments with one commissioner at the head of each department. Affairs are centralized; election at large secures a high type of man; the short ballot is attained. On the other hand a five-headed administration usually ends in friction, and commissioners are rarely experienced in city affairs.

Dr. Sly said that the very name of "town manager" was unfortunate as New Englanders did not like to be managed. A small council elected by popular vote on a non-partisan ticket with legislative powers only hires the manager who is a full-time executive chosen on technical qualification. This form of government results in increased efficiency and economy in the pick and shovel department. However, it is not democratic. The manager can not be a political leader and is very probably an out-of-town man and not in touch with local sentiment. In addition, it is difficult to secure properly qualified men.

A question period followed Dr. Sly's address. Tea was served with Mrs. Willis Tewksbury and Mrs. Peter Cunningham pouring.

At the short business meeting which preceded the address, the presiding officer, Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, announced that members of the nominating committee had been chosen as follows: Mrs. Joseph Blunt, chairman; Mrs. Philip Ripley and Mrs. F. W. H. Stott.

The annual meeting of the League of Women Voters will be held on Tuesday, May 14. A short play arranged by Mrs. Addison B. LeBoutillier will be given and Mrs. Arthur Rotch will be the speaker of the afternoon.

St Catherine's Guild to Present "The Magic Wand"

"The Magic Wand" is the title of the play to be given by the girls of St. Catherine's Guild at their annual entertainment and sale on Tuesday evening, April 30th, in the parish house of Christ church. The play has been written especially for the group of girls, and there is to be incidental music. After the play, candy, ice cream and useful articles will be for sale. Tickets, at twenty-five cents each, may be obtained from members of the Guild.

Pythian Sisters to Hold Whist Party

Garfield temple, 56, Pythian Sisters, will conduct a public whist party next Monday evening at Fraternal hall. The regular business meeting will be held at 7 o'clock followed by the whist party at 8 o'clock.

Attend Luncheon Conference in Cambridge

Mrs. H. Gilbert Franke and Mrs. R. N. C. Barnes attended the luncheon conference of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters Finance Department, held at the Boat Club, Cambridge, Tuesday, April 16, to represent the Andover branch of the organization.

The Budget for League work in 1929-30 was discussed and adopted and money raising activities discussed. One method favored is a series of garden parties; the first of these will be given on Tuesday, May 14th, when the State President, Mrs. Robert L. DeNormandie, will open her house at Lincoln for a Middlesex County meeting.

The members of the Finance Conference enjoyed the opportunity of a picnic box luncheon, the Cambridge hostesses furnishing ice cream and coffee.

Children Confirmed at Saint Augustine's

Approximately 150 children of St. Augustine's parish were confirmed at impressive ceremonies which were conducted in the church Tuesday morning at 10.30 o'clock. Rt. Rev. John B. Peterson, auxiliary-bishop of the Boston arch diocese, administered the sacrament of confirmation following which he gave benediction of the most blessed sacrament.

Rt. Rev. Peterson was assisted by Rev. Thomas F. McCarthy of Somerville, Rev. Joseph Hawes of St. Joseph's church of Medford; Rev. Daniel F. Desmond of Somerville and Rev. John B. Leonard, O. S. A., of St. Augustine's church. Seated within the sanctuary during the services were: Rev. Charles A. Branton, O. S. A., of St. Augustine's church; Rev. Richard J. Branton, of Philadelphia; Rev. James G. O'Donnell, O. P. of New York city; Rev. Edward J. Sheeley, M. S., of Hartford, Conn.; Rev. Cornelius J. Hayes, M. S., of Phoenix, N. Y.; Rev. William Donovan, O. S. A., of Holy Rosary church, Lawrence, and Rev. Francis Ledwith, M. S., of Danielson, Conn.

Before administering the sacrament of confirmation, Rt. Rev. Peterson gave a short talk to the children impressing the fact that they were now soldiers of Jesus Christ and the sacrament of confirmation made them stronger in His faith.

The sponsors for the boys were: Dr. J. J. Daly and John Callahan and for the girls, Mrs. J. J. Daly and Miss Mary McDonald.

While the Rt. Rev. Peterson was administering confirmation the children's choir sang the following hymns, "Come Holy Ghost," Cardinal O'Connell's Confirmation Hymn, "See the Paraclete Descending," and Cardinal O'Connell's "Hymn to the Holy Name." During benediction they sang "O, Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo." After benediction they rendered "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Following luncheon at St. Augustine's rectory, Rt. Rev. Peterson left for Georgetown early Tuesday afternoon where he will administer the sacrament of confirmation to another group of children.

Those who were confirmed were:

United States Army Seeks Men with Cavalry Experience

The United States Army is seeking experienced men with Cavalry experience for special military duty at two New England educational institutions. Vacancies exist for three men at Norwich University, Northfield, Vermont, and for two men at Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, Mass. These assignments will be filled on a "first come—first served" basis, according to Lieut. Col. Harry L. King, Cavalry, (D.O.L.), Recruiting officer for the Boston district, whose office is at Army Base, Boston, Mass.

While the Recruiting officer explained that several vacancies still remain unfilled in Infantry, Cavalry and Coast Artillery for service at several New England Army posts and that men are being accepted for enlistment at this time for stations in the Southwest, Pacific coast, Hawaii, China and several Army Bands, only those applicants having prior service in the United States Cavalry, with excellent character will be considered for the college duty assignment. Such men will serve as members of the Regular Army detachments acting as instructors to the R.O.T.C. units, comprised of students enrolled at Norwich and Massachusetts "Aggie." It was pointed out that besides the usual Army pay, these soldiers will receive in addition thereto an allowance for meals and lodging, making their own arrangements for living in the vicinity of these colleges.

Northeast Storm Rages

Comparatively little damage was done in Andover by the wildest spring storm in fifty years which raged all day Tuesday and well into the night with unabated force, depositing a total of 2.34 inches of rainfall up to eight o'clock in the evening. This was the heaviest rainfall in a similar period in thirteen years and the equivalent of two feet of snow, had the mercury been low enough to make the precipitation snow instead of rain.

It was a driving relentless wind which blew rain in slanting sheets making umbrellas of little use. Many persons who had the temerity to carry one used it for the last time on Tuesday, leaving its twisted remains where the wind had wrecked it.

The steeple of the Baptist church rocked in the gale to the terror and confusion of the hundreds of birds which use it as a shelter. In the height of the storm the ornamental railing surrounding the structure was torn away and it was necessary to rope off a portion of the sidewalk lest the loosened boards fall on a passerby. Portions were caught by a railing along the eaves and were removed by workmen on Wednesday morning.

Truck Takes Fire

A Pierce Arrow truck, registration number B88752, owned by the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company loaded with groceries and headed for one of the company stores caught fire on Main street about 7.30 Wednesday morning. Traffic Officer Frank McDonald while on duty in the square noticed smoke coming from the truck as it came down Andover hill, headed toward the square. He ran to the telephone and summoned the fire department. Combination 3 responded and met the truck when it arrived in the square. The driver and his assistant were unaware of the fire. Groceries of all kinds were taken from the truck and placed on the street while a large crowd assembled to watch the firemen extinguish the blaze. Most of the food stuffs were saved.

The origin of the fire was unknown and the driver stated that as far as he knew there were no matches on the load.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

A falling trolley wire struck the town ambulance as it was returning from Lawrence, but did no harm except a slight damage to the finish of the car.

A loosened wire in Elm square caused a dazzling electrical display and so charged an iron post against which it struck that it was necessary to keep pedestrians at a distance.

A fallen tree cut off the light and power supply from Lawrence, closing down three local plants and the moving picture house. Other business as well as private houses suffered from lack of light and power.

Several of the new buildings in course of construction at Phillips academy and in other parts of the Town were flooded.

A telephone wire was blown down on Main street near the corner of Morton street about 7 o'clock Tuesday night, landing across the trolley wire and short circuiting the system, stopping trolley traffic. Employees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway were sent to repair the damage.

Free Church Notes

Rev. Alfred C. Church, pastor of the Free Church returned home Saturday after a visit to his sister, Mrs. C. A. Dawley, who lives at St. Cloud, Florida. Mr. Church visited Jacksonville, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Orlando, Deland. At Deland he called on Misses Annie and Jean Dundas, who are members of the Free Church, and formerly lived on Summer street. He visited Daytona, and Palm Beach, also Miami.

He had planned to preach last Sunday on "The Ethical Teaching of the Springtime" but finding the ground entirely covered by snow and springtime delayed for a season, he preached on the subject of "Sanctuary." In his introduction he gave a description of his visit to Mountain Lake, Florida, where Edwin Bok has established his 38-acre sanctuary for birds, with a singing tower 250 feet high in the centre of it. This is the sanctuary and tower which was dedicated by President Coolidge the first day of last February. It was especially appropriate that the morning service should be given over to a consideration of this subject, as last Sunday was Humane Sunday. "Be Kind to Animals" Anniversary. Copies of the monthly magazine "Our Dumb Animals" were distributed to those who attended.

On the way to Florida Mr. Church stopped in Brooklyn, N. Y., and secured the consent of Dr. J. Percival Hugel, Pastor of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church of Brooklyn to come to Andover on April 30, and give the address on the evening session of the Andover Association of Congregational Churches, which will be held in the West Parish Church.

There are to be two special services at the Free Church next Sunday. In the morning, Rev. Judson L. Cross, Regional Secretary of the American Missionary Association, will speak on "Straightening out the Color Salient."

At 7:15 there will be a special recital in the Parish House given by Miss Marie Bartlett of Newtonville. She will give readings with musical accompaniment by Mrs. J. Nichols. The readings are "King Robert of Sicily" by Longfellow; "The Tent Scene" from Julius Caesar; "The Finger of God," a one-act play by Percival Wiley. Mrs. Nichols will also sing a solo at this service. All are cordially invited to attend. An offering will be taken.

On Wednesday evening, April 24, at 5:30 the Women's Benevolent Society are to serve a cafeteria supper in the Parish house. The supper will be followed by an entertainment and sale.

On Friday evening, May 3, at 7.30, the Boy Scouts, Troop No. 2, will give an entertainment and exhibition. All mothers and daughters are invited to attend the annual banquet and entertainment to be held under the auspices of the Margaret Slattery class Tuesday evening, May 21, in the vestry. Tickets may be obtained from members of the class.

Minor Accidents

A Chevrolet coupe, registration number 363,341, was found Tuesday evening crashed into the wire fence outside the public dump on High street. The fence and machine were damaged, the car being removed by police to the Park street garage.

Motorcycle Officer Carl Stevens reported that a truck had struck the hydrant on Harding street near the corner of High street early Tuesday evening. The truck had left the scene before he arrived. He reported that no serious damage resulted to the hydrant.

The Birth of London

No one can say when London began; the beginning is lost in the mists of time. London is first mentioned in a passage in Tacitus, a Roman historian whose uncle, General Agricola, spent most of his active military career in Britain. Tacitus describes the Roman London of A. D. 61 when it was sacked by Queen Boadicea—the British warrior-queen.

It is one of the strangest things in London's history, that she should first appear at the moment when she was sacked by a British queen, and that that queen's statue should now stand in a place of honor under the palace of Westminster, looking down the Thames. It is strange, but it marks that peculiar position of London as the meeting place of the races out of which the English people were made.

Shawsheen Garage Appointed Oakland-Pontiac Dealer

The Oakland Motor Car company today announces another addition to its rapidly growing sales organization in the appointment of Shawsheen Garages, Inc., as Oakland-Pontiac dealers here for the smart new Pontiac Big Six and its companion car, the colorful new All-American by Oakland. Both lines of cars are displayed at the new showrooms at Shawsheen Garages, 47 Highland street, Shawsheen Village, where the public is invited to inspect them.

The huge Oakland-Pontiac merchandising body with which the new dealers here are now identified has shown one of the most remarkable growths in the entire automobile industry. With 5,000 dealers throughout the United States, it is five times the size of the 1925 Oakland dealer organization.

A. R. Glancy, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company, believes that 1929 will be the company's greatest year. The production and sales program calls for a sizable increase over the 260,000 Oakland and Pontiac Sixes built last year, which was 35 per cent greater than in 1927, the best year since Oakland first began manufacturing automobiles in 1907.

Intensification of the field organization in preparation for the year has been made under the direction of W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales, with the addition of fifty field men to the traveling force, the creation of new district offices and changes in field personnel. As a result today there are under Mr. Tracy six regional offices and twenty-five district offices to maintain contact between the factory and the sales forces in the field in the interest of improved public service.

At Home

The day's work is done. The evening meal is over. The members of the family gather round to relax, and enjoy a social hour before evening engagements call them away.

Could there be a better time for visiting by telephone, with greater assurance that those upon whom you call will be "at home?"

And, if any further persuasion be needed, there are the low evening rates which apply from 7:00 to 8:30 each night. For example:

From Andover to

Amhurst	$.45	Lynn	$.20
Northampton	.50	Walpole	.35
Rutland, Mass.	.35	Bangor, Me.	.85
Biddeford, Me.	.40	Portland, Me.	.45
Dover, N. H.	.35	Franklin, N. H.	.50
Bristol, N. H.	.45	White River Jct., Vt.	.55
Burlington, Vt.	.80	Bellows Falls	.45
Montpelier, Vt.	.65	Tiverton, R. I.	.40

These rates are for three-minute station-to-station calls. Particular person calls take full day rates.

These rates are made to decrease the cost of your evening calls at a time when you are most likely to find friends at home. Further reductions, of course, are possible on calls made between 8:30 P.M. and 4:30 A.M.

Little Color Variation
Camels seem to be singularly free from the color variations that affect so many domesticated animals—melanism and albinism. Black camels, presumably melancies, are rare. A breed called "Nubian camel" is of a very light shade. This seems to be a regular color strain, however, and not a case of albinism.

Prevent Plant Blight
Do not keep your house plants where it is too warm, 60 to 65 degrees is a lot better than 75. They need sunlight and fresh air, but should not be exposed to draughts. Watch out for disease and pests, spray or syringe them before it is too late. Prevention is much easier than cure.

Lens Found in Nineveh
The oldest magnifying glass known in the world was discovered in the ruins of Nineveh. Its magnifying power must have been noticed, but it was probably used not as a microscope, but as a burning-glass. The lens was an aid to vision dates only from the Middle Ages.

Blasphemy Unlawful
Generally speaking, blasphemy is the expression of defiant impiety and irreverence against God or things held sacred. In United States law, it is an indictable offense, which consists of wantonly and maliciously reviling God and the Christian religion.

ROGER W. BABSON SAYS INVESTMENT TRUST IDEA DESTINED FOR FUTURE DEVELOPMENT

Investment Trust Spreads Risks Over Large Number of Securities and Depends on Law of Averages to Balance Gains Against Losses—Danger Lies in Speculation Rather than Investment

Babson Park, Massachusetts, April 19, 1929. "The investment trust principle is fundamentally sound. It is the same principle that underlies the insurance business. The insurance company spreads out its risks over a large group of people and depends on the law of averages to balance the gains against the losses. The investment trust spreads out its risks over a large number of securities and depends upon the same law. However, the soundest life insurance companies are those which most carefully select their risks, and similarly the soundest investment trusts are those which most carefully select the stocks or bonds that they buy. It is only logical that the insurance company insuring only the healthiest people will be, in the long run, the most successful. It ought to be just as hard for investment trusts to get into the portfolios of the investment trusts as it is for sick people to get life insurance with the best companies.

Danger in Confusing Investment Trusts with Speculation

"For the most part the investment trusts seem to be capably managed and conservatively conducted. However, there are unquestionably a number of so-called 'investment trusts' that are no more than speculative pools. The primary purpose of the investment trust should be investment and not speculation. This does not mean that a trust must confine itself to the purchase of bonds alone, although a good back-log of bonds is a fine thing to have, whether held by an investment trust or by an individual. There are good sound dividend paying common stocks which have prospects of a high value over a term of years. When, however, an 'investment' trust engages solely in the business of trying to make a quick profit in the market and disregards entirely dividend yield on the securities bought, it becomes a 'speculation' trust, or in other words merely an incorporated stock pool. There are examples of just this kind of thing.

"One striking illustration is an investment trust formed last year to hold only securities in one of our newer industries. Its income statement shows six months' profit of fifty thousand dollars. Three-fifths of this amount came from interest on call loans, one-fifth from interest on bank loans, and one-fifth from stock market profits on securities bought and sold during the year. None of the income came from the industry itself! Trusts of this nature may be perfectly legitimate, but the public should know that it is buying into a speculative enterprise and not an investment.

Full Publicity Essential

"Unless investment trust popularity is to receive a distinct setback, and its growth retarded by coming into public disfavor, there must be full and truthful details published regarding their financial arrangements. One case has been recently cited where the promoters of the trust put in only 16 per cent of the capital represented by preferred shares, and for that 16 per cent received 75 per cent of the common stock in the form of a bonus. The public put in 84 per cent of the money by buying the first preferred stock and received a bonus of only 25 per cent of the common. In other words, the promoters risked $1. to the public's $5, but the promoters got three-fourths of the equity and the public got one-fourth. Such abuses must be eliminated if the investment trust idea is to continue popular with the people, and enjoy the growth which it deserves on a properly conducted basis.

Advantages of Investment Trusts

"The well-managed investment trust with thoroughly reliable sponsorship offers certain distinct advantages. In the first place it affords diversification for many small investors who are unable to purchase a widely enough diversified list of securities, but who can achieve the same purpose through purchase of trust shares. Second, it provides expert investment knowledge and management not ordinarily available to the small investor. From the standpoint of the financial situation as a whole the investment trusts can and do act as stabilizing influences during times of violent market fluctuations. Of course, the real test of the investment trust idea will come when we have a long continued decline in the security markets. Their ability to withstand temporary reactions of considerable violence has already been shown during the past month. It was a noticeable fact that the investment trust shares as a group acted extremely well in the recent market break. This, however, is not regarded as sufficient test to be conclusive.

How to Best Select Investment Trusts

"The number of investment trusts has grown so rapidly in the past year that the average investor is bewildered by them. He cannot tell which ones merit his confidence. Three-quarters of them originate in New York State, and at present that state has no regulatory laws governing investment trusts. The best the average investor can do, therefore, is to follow certain general rules.

"1. He should be assured that the personnel of the management has a good business reputation and consists of men with investment experience.

"2. He should ascertain whether the officers and promoters have put enough money of their own into the trust so that they have a real interest in seeing that it is properly conducted.

"3. He should know exactly what privileges have been accorded to the promoters, managers and officers which are not enjoyed by the outside investor. If these are unreasonable he should avoid the shares.

"4. He should only select those trusts where periodic statements of financial condition, income and expenses, and balance sheet are made in detail.

"5. He should assure himself that the cost of the management is not excessive and that the expense of raising capital has not been out of proportion to the average cost of financing sound trusts of this kind.

"6. He should bear in mind that the primary purpose of a real investment trust is 'investment' and not 'speculation.' Those trusts which make extravagant claims about huge profits in a short time are to be avoided.

"Business by the Babsonchart is now five per cent above normal compared with four per cent above a year ago."

Opening Dance at Roseland Tonight

Roseland-on-the-Merrimack, under the management of William F. Wholey and the Balmoral Associates, opens tonight for the season of 1929. Completely renovated, with entirely new decorative schemes, this popular ballroom of Greater Lawrence is ready to cater to its thousands of patrons with comfort and service as its watchwords. One glance at the background of the orchestral stage will lead one to believe that he has been transported to old Seville in historic Spain. Gone are the drafts that meant discomfort for Roseland patrons of the past. New wind-breaking walls have been constructed along the entire river and western fronts. In addition to the two tonic and lunch stands of a year ago, Roseland today boasts a modern soda fountain, thus amply satisfying the wants of all patrons.

It will be the policy of the management to stage check dancing, with the Jersey Jic-Jacs on the orchestral stage, every Wednesday and Saturday evening during the season, while Friday evenings will be reserved for famous bands of the east and middle west. The sole exception to this program comes this week, when check dancing is scheduled for Thursday and Friday evenings, while the peerless Mal Hallett, the greatest attraction in Eastern ballrooms, will be host to a tremendous throng on Saturday evening. As in the past there will be ample checking facilities and free automobile parking will again be the rule. Just follow the crowds along the Lowell boulevard north of the Merrimack river from Lawrence.

CREAM FOR BUTTER
The amount of cream required to produce a pound of butter does not depend on the breed of cow, but on the richness of the cream. Two quarts of cream containing 20 per cent buterfat will make a pound of butter. One and one half quarts of cream containing 30 per cent buterfat will produce a pound of butter.

The Great Need

Old Mahogany
A freight steamship recently reached New York from the Philippines with 500,000 feet of mahogany for the manufacture of motorboats. The timber was cut from trees estimated to have been from 800 to 1,000 years old.

Onion Long in Favor
Native to southern Asia or the borders of the Mediterranean sea, the onion has been esteemed an excellent food from the earliest times, of which there are authentic records. Egyptians cultivated onions at the dawn of their history.
